Compliance Auditing: A Relatively New Development

- Scope of our discussion: Compliance Auditing in sales, marketing and medical affairs
- Historically, areas addressed by legal direction, high level policy, and legal training
- Violations of policy were addressed on a one-off basis through investigations
- Contrast to well established financial, gmp and glp auditing practices designed to prevent violations

OIG Guidance

- Use of audits and risk evaluation techniques to
  - Monitor compliance
  - Identify problem areas
  - Assist in the reduction of identified problems
- Nature of reviews
  - Prospective systemic review of processes, protocols, and practices
  - Retrospective review of actual practices
- Also evaluate whether
  - Policies cover identified risk areas
  - Policies were implemented and communicated
  - Policies were followed

Sentencing Guidelines

The organization shall take reasonable steps

- To ensure that the organization's compliance and ethics program is followed, including monitoring and auditing to detect criminal conduct
- To evaluate periodically the effectiveness of the organization's compliance and ethics program

A survey of Five CIAs : the government's areas of concern for external review and internal audit

Factors Driving Compliance Auditing – Why We Audit

- OIG Guidance and other government direction
- Compliance with the proliferation of state laws, and federal laws (anti kickback, FDCA, PDMA, other federal healthcare program laws)
- Compliance with the PhRMA Code, ACCME and other voluntary guidelines
- Internal Policies
- Perception auditing – the NY Times test (like modest meals)
- Consent Decrees, DPAs, CIAs
- Culture change: assuring people understand the organization's values

Benefits of Monitoring and Auditing

- Assure compliance with policies
  - Document that policies are being followed
  - If they aren't, you want to find it and fix it yourself
- Ascertain effectiveness of other program elements
  - Policy language
  - Training
  - Communication programs
- Foster relationships with business partners
  - Putting a face with the compliance program
  - Opportunities to coach and share the learning
  - Opportunities to understand business challenges
  - It's not an "ivory tower" compliance program

Risk areas by Function not by Department

4 P's +

- Product ...quality, safety, functionality
- Price ... retail price, discounts, rebates
- Place ... distribution channel, market coverage
- Promotion ... advertising, sales promotion, personal selling, publicity
- People ... trained, motivated, skill set
- Process ... practices and behaviors

Continuous Improvement

Develop Audit Toolkit

- Conduct Audit
- Present specific findings to management
- Share findings with process improvement workstream
- Issue Audit Report
- Develop and issue guidance based on audit findings

How do you determine areas that require audit?

- Changes in Policy or Process
- Areas of high legal risk (payments to HCPs, grants)
- Areas of organizational change
- Areas where stretch financial targets have been set
- Risks uncovered through monitoring;
Compliance review of audit plan

Auditing Structures: Where Do Companies' Compliance Audit Functions Sit?

- One model has Compliance Audit within an OIG (seven elements) comprehensive compliance program; facilitates integration with policy and process development
- Another model: auditing is independent; reports up through Internal Audit
- Where does internal audit sit within Corporate structure?

How do you interact with the Businesses?

- When do you need to advise the business of an audit- and when do you not?
  - Consider whether discussion will prospectively affect behavior (e.g. notification of an audit of off-label requests to Medical Affairs)
  - Understanding of the purpose of audits encourages cooperation (change in culture; recognition that audit identifies problems before the regulators come in)
- How do you stay in touch with evolving business strategies?
  - Where are your touch points-e.g Compliance integration in business councils, decision making fora

Does the Imposition of a CIA or Consent Decree Change Your Audit Approach?

- Government may be focused on different risks (consistency across CIAs)
- Mandatory reporting of “reportable events” may affect the continuous improvement focus
- IRO evaluation of systems and transactions may enhance or redirect auditing efforts

Role of the Legal Department in Auditing

- When do you want your lawyers involved? Expertise in subject matter (for example, current off-label issues that should be spotted in a speaker program or field force audit)
- When is it appropriate to conduct an audit under privilege?
- Can there be a privileged audit when operating under a CIA or Consent Decree?
- What other expertise is appropriate to enlist?

Specific Risk Area Issues in Compliance Auditing & Monitoring: Field Force

- Communications and interactions at training identify areas of risk or concern
- Hotline calls and investigations
- Documents: expense reports, sample accountability, performance management documents (e.g. Manager documentation of field observation), call notes, action plans, district expenses, compliance training records
- Monitoring through rep rides: direct field force observation
  - who does the observation (separation of those who monitor from those who provide advice and assistance)
  - length of observation: spending more than one day with a single representative may be a “best practice” (viewing rep conduct and customer expectations)

Specific Risk Area Issues In Compliance Auditing and Monitoring: Speaker Programs

	Retrospective: Past Programs	Prospective: Live Programs
Attributes	– Ensure compliance with company' policy

Challenges	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– Sample size</li> <li>– Multiple stakeholders</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– Schedules</li> <li>– Interactions with attendees</li> </ul>

Metrics and Data Sources

- How is compliance measured?
- What constitutes a comprehensive audit?
- How do you track trends and issues?
- Adequacy of data bases: what spend is captured in your data bases, and how does that affect your auditing practices?

When do you turn compliance over to the business?

- Field monitoring of programs: Representatives have responsibility for monitoring speaker adherence to policy
- Modest meals and sample reconciliation: Performance issue; sales management, business operations report and monitor
- But, we have a long way to go before the audit/monitoring function is obsolete!
